and old buddies by lockers and classrooms

The main hall, oldest of all others, is the center of all school activity. There, CPHS students stand at their lockers or in the office chattering about the days and weeks ahead with friends. With studies must come fun, thus when the three o'clock bell rings, the hustle and bustle continues, for then the extra-curricular activities take over.

The 1962 class ring, purchased in the sophomore year, symbolizes four years of high school activity.

traditional senior cords

Throughout a school year many unusual and unique fads are always formed and 1961-62 was no exception. Girls led the fashion parade with high hemlines and pointed shoes. Small bows of all colors adorned a variety of bouffant hairstyles. Many girls also appeared in long-waisted, frilly blouses, topped off with sautoires. Boys' fads included the ever-popular bulky knit sweaters and identification bracelets. In the spring the newest fad was the interne blouse, inspired by a television program.

Steady couples continued the fad of steady shirts and the exchange of class rings, which they bought as sophomores. Girls decorated their steady rings with angora or tape.

As in previous years the halls were filled with upperclassmen proudly wearing their class sweaters. Every Friday seniors displayed their cords, a tradition for all graduating classes. Along with the newest fashions, new dance steps, the pony and the twist, swept the country.

Offering a well-balanced lunch to students and providing milk for students with sack lunches are two of the services rendered by the high school cafeteria.

Day after day special services harmonize with

Among the many services offered for the benefit of CPHS students and teachers is the newly installed telephone system, which enables anyone to call other parts of the school, as well as to place outside calls.

The cafeteria provides well-balanced meals at low costs daily for students. They also offer bottles of milk and ice cream bars for those CPHSers who bring sack lunches.

For convenience, the school operates a bookstore where CP students may purchase school books, paper, pencils, and other necessary supplies. Students serving as hall monitors perform many jobs such as picking up absentee slips and guiding visitors through the building.

The school library provides a wide selection of good books for both enjoyment and research. During study halls, students may visit the library to find material for projects.

Crown Prince George

Throughout the year the symbol of nobility was a crown and a bouquet of flowers. Each monarch had his share of joy when the lights flicked on and a golden crown sparkled on his head. In the fall, Mr. Football and Home-coming Queen were chosen by the student body to reign at Home-coming. During the Christmas holidays Holly Hop Queen and Hi-Y Sweetheart share the royal spotlight. The FFAers highlighted their dance by electing an FFA Sweetheart. In February the Inklings chose a Man of the Year. The year's gaieties were topped off by the Froshmore Hop for the underclassmen and the Junior-Senior Prom.

business courses offered at CPHS

Efficiency, speed, and accuracy are the three traits characteristic of graduates of the Business Department. Those majoring in Business may take advanced courses, which offer an additional year of work, in typing and shorthand. Both subjects give students practical skills which may prove of value in future careers. After mastering these two courses, business majors learn to keep the financial records of a company in bookkeeping. With these skills, students are ready to venture into the world of business. Business math and business English teach students practical applications of English and mathematics. To apply their learning, many students help out in the office by issuing passes and checking attendance.

Modern facilities in the Home Economics Department enable students to gain practical experience in sewing, baking, and child care. The first year is spent in foods and clothing, while advanced foods, home nursing, and child care are taught in second year. Advanced clothing and tailoring, foods and nutrients, family relations, and interior decorating prepare juniors and seniors for their future life.

While the girls are busy in the kitchen, boys learned techniques and shortcuts in industrial arts classes. With courses in architectural and mechanical drawing, electronics, and general and wood shops, boys are trained for a future vocation.

The Physical Education Department offers a varied program of acrobatics, ballroom and square dancing, calisthenics, and sports to freshmen and sophomore students. For the second year, upperclassmen may take elective phys-ed. In this class bowling, ice skating, and tumbling are offered. There are also opportunities for juniors and seniors to qualify as student instructors.

At the end of the year, gym students sponsor a physical fitness show, at which they display their talents.

ideas in forms of music, art, and gymnastics

The Art and Music Department provide numerous opportunities for the budding artist or musician. Artists can try their hand at abstracts, collages, or ceramics, while musicians can join many choral ensembles. Musicians use any extra time working toward concerts and contests. Artists use their time in actual creative work such as learning about the history of art.

The English language is a very vital and necessary part of CPHS students' lives. Throughout the four years of grammar, students become fluent in good English as well as learning to express themselves through creative writing. To accompany the grammar, a semester of literature is offered. The various courses in American and English writings sharpen students' reading tastes. While English was compulsory for all, many students improved their speaking and acting abilities in the elective speech classes.

At some time or another, all CPHSers employ the facilities of the high school library. As freshmen, students learn the correct procedures for finding library research material in their English class.

For the first time last year, a third year of Latin was added which paved the way for a bigger and better modern language department. Plans for the addition of a third year of French and Spanish are also in the near future. All college-bound students are encouraged to take one of the three foreign languages offered. Latin helps students increase their understanding of the English language as well as that of the Roman Empire. French and Spanish make students fluent in modern languages.

Social studies students

Students at CPHS learn the history of democracy through social studies classes. CPHSers are eligible for citizenship, world history, and world geography. The state of Indiana requires that every student take courses in US history and civics and economics before graduating. At the end of the year, junior and senior social studies students take part in the actual governmental process in the Student Legislative Assembly.

As freshmen CPHSers are introduced to the Math Department by either high school math or first year algebra. Those wishing to continue their study of math take plane geometry, a study of points, lines and angles. The students who find the world of mathematics interesting go on to take advanced algebra and senior math.

Junior scientists verify

All students interested in the scientific aspects of modern living are encouraged to take one or more of the four courses in science. To get a general background and sampling of all sciences, some CPHSers take general science. Others interested in the anatomy of life learn the intricate parts of living animals through dissection in biology. Junior chemists experiment with various chemicals to uncover the usefulness of modern chemistry. Physics students spend their days learning the principles behind light, sound, and electricity. The future scientists get a chance to display the result of their learning at the annual Science Fair in March.

Students strive for

Awards of outstanding citizenship, leadership, talent, and scholastic achievement are bestowed each year upon worthy CPHS students. For those interested in government there are Boys' and Girls' State in the summer and the United Nations trip and Cincinnati World Affairs Institute in the spring. The DAR Good Citizen is nominated by the senior class and then chosen by the faculty. Other excellence awards are based on the same qualities of leadership and scholastic ability. Junior Rotarians and Kiwanians participate in the local clubs' programs. National Merit Scholarship Finalists and the Betty Crocker Homemaker of the Year are selected after taking tests in their individual fields. around the corner and down the hall...

The bench is the scene of all sports activity. It is there that conferences take place and morale is boosted. The bench is often a scene of the happy jubilation winning brings, but may also be blanketed with the sad solitude and anxiety of losing. It is this combination of victory and defeat that molds the spirit of a team. In interscholastic competition CPHS athletes learn not only to perform skillful maneuvers, but also to be good sports, win or lose.

There are many aspects which combine together to make high school an unforgettable experience. One such aspect is athletics, interwoven into the personalities of all those who go around the corner and down the hall. . . .

Bulldog gridgers post 5-5 season mark, beat

After a short gain junior half-back, Jim Pause, is brought down by three Rensselaer tackles as Denny Navarre moves in too late.

This year, as last year, the Crown Point High School gridmen started their season with a defeat; however, they still managed to salvage an even 5-5 record. On September 1, the Crown Point Bulldogs traveled to Valparaiso where they were defeated by the Vikings in a close 6-0 game, with the winning touchdown coming in the last three minutes. After losing this heartbreaker, the Bulldogs came back home and took on the Rensselaer Bombers, who managed to slip by the discouraged Bulldog team 20-18.

With two defeats marring their record, the Crown Point team traveled to Highland on September 15 where they helped initiate Highland's new football field by defeating the home team by a decisive 19-6 margin. With victory in their veins, the Bulldog gridgers returned home on September 22 to play host to their old enemies, the Pirates of Merrillville, whom they clobbered 27-7 in an exciting display of football ability.

rival Pirates, Devils

Unfortunately the Blazers spoiled the Home-coming celebration and gaieties by handing the Bulldogs their third loss of the season in a 12-7 game. Once again on the road, the Crown Point gridders found themselves at the mercy of the powerful Brickies of Hobart. The Bulldogs were completely outplayed as the Brickies rolled to an easy 47-13 slaughter. After suffering their fourth loss in season play, the Bulldogs returned home and were successful in handing the Calumet Warriors a smashing 28-7 defeat. Next the CP gridders encountered the Lowell Red Devils at Lowell and outplayed their arch rivals for a 21-13 win, their fourth in Calumet Conference play.

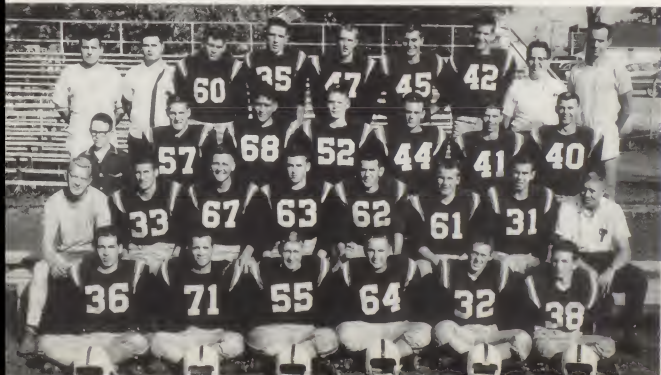

With two consecutive wins to their credit, the Bulldog team returned to their native, Bulldog Memorial Football Field, to defeat the Panthers of Griffith 15-0 in a display of skillful maneuvering.

Reserves gain experience by trial and error

For their final game of the '61 season, the Crown Point team traveled to Gilroy Stadium in Gary, the guests of Lew Wallace. There they suffered their fifth and final setback as they were defeated 27-7.

At the end of the season, the members of the Crown Point High School football squad chose junior Vaughn Rice and senior Joe Harris co-captains because of their outstanding playing ability and sportsmanship. The Bulldog team also elected senior tackle George Kmetz the most valuable player.

Throughout the year the Bulldogs were expertly coached by Jim Carter, David Schaeffer, Dick Stillwagon, and Jerry Jones.

To highlight the year, the football players attended the annual football banquet at Teibel's Restaurant. After the dinner and guest speaker Ray Eliot, major and minor letters were awarded to deserving players.

The freshman team wasn't quite as successful as the varsity, for they finished with a 1-4 season record.

Their only win came in their first game against Gary Wirt 12-0. Next the frosh took on Lowell who ran over the CPers 20-0. After this loss the freshmen traveled to E. C. Washington and were slaughtered 46-12. With two straight losses the young gridmen played host to the Andrean frosh who ran to a 14-0 win over the CP team. After losing three, the freshmen fell to Hobart 21-6.

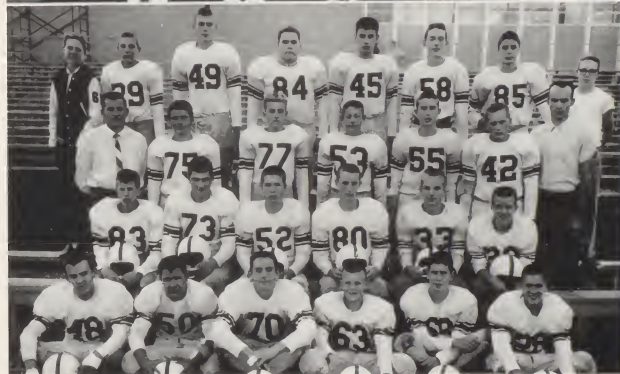

The fresh-soph team completed their season with 3-3-1 record. In their first game the reserves rolled by Calumet for an 18-6 win and defeated Valparaiso 18-6. With two wins the reserves played Lowell and slid past them 12-7. Next they met Rensselaer and when time ran out the score was tied 7-7. After a good start the reserve team was shut out by Morton 12-0 and by Andrean 14-0. To end the season the froshmore gridmen were outplayed by East Chicago Roosevelt 20-7.

Hub cagers cop Christmas Tourney title

The 1961-62 basketball season was a profitable one for CP hoopsters. Five returning Lettermen led the Bulldogs to a 15-7 mark and a first place tie in the Calumet Conference.

In the season's first game the battling Bulldogs rolled by Horace Mann 73-66 and then defeated Dyer in a 39-36 thriller. The next CP victory came against Calumet in double overtime, 53-52. For their fourth win of the season the Bulldogs rolled by Culver Military Academy 75-40.

The Crown Point team faced Delphi with high hopes, but were defeated 66-55. Returning home, the Bulldogs began another winning streak by downing Hobart 65-64.

Then it was time for the Holiday Tourney, which took place on the Hub City court. In the first game Crown Point topped Dyer 47-44. In the second game, the Bulldogs clobbered Griffith 81-62. In the finals the Bulldog hoopsters defeated Merrillville 77-61 for the Tourney championship.

In the Holiday Tourney Crown Point also took the cheering block trophy and senior John Sherwood was named the Most Valuable Player.

Following the Holiday Tourney, the CP hoopsters again met Merrillville and downed them 56-50. Crown Point continued with three straight conference wins over Edison 76-62, Highland 73-53, and Lowell 66-56.

With nine wins the next opponent was Chesterton, who slipped by the CPers 64-62. For revenge, CP defeated East Gary 57-54. After defeating East Gary, the Bulldogs lost a heartbreaker to Rensselaer 62-61, but managed to slip by Gary Wirt 48-46.

Facing Griffith, the CP five received their first conference loss, 66-54. After this humiliating defeat, Crown Point bounced back to trounce Hammond Noll 70-57. The Bulldogs lost their last two games to Valparaiso 78-61 and to Portage 61-56.

In the sectionals CP drew Hammond High who mopped them 83-59.

Reserves overwhelm rivals in JV Tourney

Struggling for control of the basketball are E. Foreman, J. Ericks, M. Meyers, and D. Conquest.

For his second year, senior John Sherwood was named to the sectional team, and, along with Tom Kish, to the Calumet Conference team.

The reserves also had a respectable season record and an 8-1 conference record.

To start the year CP reserves defeated Horace Mann 34-24 and dropped Dyer 36-34. The JVs then lost to Calumet 24-21 and to Culver 42-36.

After two defeats the Bulldogs won seven straight, beating Delphi 37-32, Hobart 41-34, Merrillville 45-35, and Gary Edison 39-37. In the JV Tourney, the reserves defeated Merrillville 40-38 and Griffith 37-33 to become the Tourney champions.

Next Crown Point smashed Highland 36-23, but then lost two, the first to Lowell 49-45 and the second to Chesterton 33-23. In their eleventh game the JVs bounced back to down East Gary 37-24, but were dropped by Rensselaer 51-31. After slaughtering Gary Wirt, the Bulldogs downed Griffith 45-36. Following these two wins, the JVs lost to Hammond Noll 47-32 and Valparaiso 42-39. The Bulldogs finished their season with a victory, clobbering Portage 57-36.

Unfortunately the freshmen team didn't fare as well, winning only 3 and losing 11.

Rich Wright, senior, wins his last match by a decision, claiming the title of sectional champion.

After a valiant effort, freshman Bob Wright lost his sectional match to a Merrillville champion.

Wrestlers win Calumet

Coach Carl Carnahan's Bulldog Wrestlers won their second sectional and a Calumet Conference championship with a 12-2 record in the 1961-62 season.

The Bulldogs, starting with their unmarred tally from last year, added ten wins onto this string of twenty-six straight before facing a loss. Their first defeat was from the LaPorte squad in a 30-16 clash. The Hub boys dropped only one other at the hands of Hammond High, last year's state champions, 27-19. In the first Calumet Conference Wrestling Tourney for the Hubmen, Crown Point came out on top easily.

As the season progressed the few green wrestlers obtained the necessary confidence, the Lettermen regained their form, and the Bulldogs were undefeated in dual competition. In the first part of the season Hammond Morton offered the best opposition giving the Hub grapplers a close fight, but Crown Point came out on top 26-24. For the '62 half, Crown Pointers fell to LaPorte 30-16 and Hammond High 27-19, but dominated all the other matches.

In the Calumet Conference, the Hub boys were on the ball, winning in five of the twelve weight classes. Ed Jackson, John Jackson, Roy Rees, Fred Hershberger, and Rich Wright won in their five respective weight classes. The closest foe in the tourney was Highland, but the Hub grapplers won with an overpowering 21 point advantage.

Last year the sectionals were at the Crown Point High School gym, which gave the Bulldogs the advantage of wrestling on familiar grounds. The Hubsters won their second sectionals, edging out Gary Roosevelt 73-71. Four Crown Pointers, Roy Rees, John Jackson, and Rich Wright placing first and Dave Miller second, qualified for the regionals at Lafayette.

Intramural activities were improved last year to provide entertainment during lunch hours.

Volleyball was played in the fall and spring. The champion girls' teams were "Silly Sophomores" and "Bloopers"; the boys' team were "Big O'Idols," "Watusies," and a tie between the "Eighth Notes," "Thomas Tragedies," and the faculty.

In fall and winter basketball, the "Bloopers" were champions for the girls, and the "Six Packs" and "Courtiers," champions for the boys.

Table tennis, played in the intramural area and gym, was popular all year round. Jim Knight was pronounced fall champion for the boys, and Barb Fischer for the girls.

Wrestling provided experience and practice for the many boys who spent their lunch hours in the wrestling room learning the fundamental techniques.

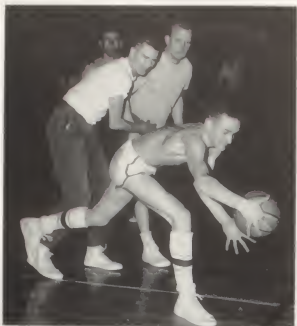

Other intramural activities throughout the year were crab soccer as well as regular soccer, touch football, Indian leg wrestling, shuffleboard, chess, checkers, mixed volleyball, boxing, and gymnastics.

Seniors win top honors; All-Stars clobber faculty

Teachers Al Gruber and Dave Schaeffer fight Charlie Lewis for the ball in the faculty-All-Star game.

Twenty-seven teams, ten of them girls' and seventeen of them boys', entered the Inter-class Tourney to compete for top awards.

For the first time in years, both the senior boys' and girls' teams captured the lime light by ending up in first place after defeating the Lettermen's Club and the GAA. In the semi-finals both senior teams downed the freshmen, the GAA and Lettermen topped both the junior girls and boys. Claiming third place honors, the freshmen boys beat the junior boys and the freshmen girls won over the juniors girls.

Highlighting the Tourney, the All-Star Team, composed of the top members of the competing teams, upset the faculty 45-31.

Each year honor awards are given to outstanding players. Two seniors, Bill Lamphier and Caroline Underwood, received the Most Valuable Player awards in their respective divisions, for their good sportsmanship, and playing ability.

Coach Pete Bellessis gives "his boy's" a before-the-game pep talk to prepare them for the All-Stars.

In their second year the gymnasts tallied a mediocre three wins and four losses for the season record. In their first encounter, the Bulldogs won a close $49\frac{1}{2}$ to $43\frac{1}{2}$ victory over New Carlisle. Rich East of Illinois proved superior to the CP Bulldogs and clobbered them 70 to 39. The gymnasts rebounded to wallop Warren Central of Indianapolis by a score of $68\frac{1}{2}$ to $43\frac{1}{2}$. The revengeful Bulldogs again met Rich East, but were easily defeated by a $65\frac{1}{2}$ to $42\frac{1}{2}$ margin. Crown Point then dropped a very close 57 to 55 encounter with Concord Metro of Elkhart. With two defeats in a row, the CP gymnasts downed New Carlisle by a 74 to 38 score. In their last dual meet the Bulldogs faced Harvey Thornton of Illinois and were conquered by $74\frac{1}{2}$ to $21\frac{1}{2}$. The gymnasts trained diligently to finish first at the state meet. After a valiant effort, they placed third out of fifteen teams. However, six CP gymnasts placed in the top ten in state competition.

In the 1961 season Bulldog cindermen fell into a slump, winning only one of six dual meets. The Bulldogs opened their season facing Hammond Tech and suffered a discouraging defeat 65 1/3 to 43 2/3. Valparaiso handed the cindermen a whopping 83-26 loss. In the Crown Point Invitational the Bulldogs placed second, and then third in the annual Little Five meet at Hobart. Calumet and Chesterton downed the CP team 60 1/2 - 48 1/2 and 61 1/2 - 47 1/2 respectively. In the Hammond Relays Crown Point placed seventh; they then suffered their fifth defeat, against Gary Wirt. CP ran fourth in the Rensselaer Relays. Facing their sixth loss, the Bulldogs could tally only 40 2/3, while Horace Mann gathered 68 2/3. The Bulldog's only victory came against East Chicago Roosevelt in a 58-51 match. Crown Point captured fourth place in the Hobart Relays. In the sectional meet the cindermen fought for sixth place honors, completing their season.

Five juniors lead Hub golfers to 20-8 record

In '60 Hub golfers turned in an impressive 20-8 record. Junior Lettermen, T. Kish, J. Sherwood, J. Clark, L. Armstrong, and J. Sandstrom, shot the near par game that posted the winning mark. The Hub team met the tougher teams early in the season. They fell to Lew Wallace, but came back over Horace Mann, Hammond Morton, and Hammond Clark. Continuing they dropped matches to Noll and Hammond High.

The Hubsters split with Dyer, winning two and losing two. The Bulldogs won two meets over Griffith, Highland, Hammond Clark, Hammond Morton, Merrillville, Hobart, and Lowell. Single victories were gained over Valparaiso, Griffith, Lew Wallace, and Horace Mann. In the LaPorte Invitational and the sectionals, CP golfers placed tenth.

Bulldog harriers turned in a mediocre season with only six wins in eleven meets. Crown Point dropped the first three meets to Hobart 37-18, Chesterton 30-25, and Calumet 38-23. The CPers then defeated E. C. Washington 47-16 and Portage 34-23.

Lowell was the Bulldog's next victim, 47-16. In the Delphi Invitational CP took third, then lost a 32-23 decision to La Porte. The harriers next faced Michigan City and were overpowered 37-22.

In the Hobart Invitational CP harriers ran seventh. Next the Bulldogs trounced Knox 41-16 and E. C. Roosevelt 33-23. In their last meet, the Bulldog harriers triumphed over Hammond Morton 38-20. In the sectionals Crown Point harriers squeezed into a seventh place standing.

CP hardballers hammer out 8-6 record

The Crown Point High School baseball team turned in an above average season, winning eight of fourteen matches last year. The team's success was due to a combination of brilliant teamwork and inspired spirit. The CP team was expertly coached by David Schaeffer and Carl Carnahan.

The Bulldog stickmen began the '61 season unfavorably by losing to the rival Pirates of Merrillville by a 7-1 margin. Eager to recover themselves, the CP batsmen avenged their previous loss with a 12-7 victory over Merrillville in a return game. After splitting two with their arch rivals, the Bulldogs dropped Highland 9-6 on the home diamond. They then lost two games to Griffith, the first by a close 2-1 margin, and the return match by a 4-2 score.

Going into their sixth game, the Crown Point baseballers took on Chesterton but were walloped 7-2 in the seven innings of play. In their next game the Bulldogs slipped by Calumet 3-2.

However the Bulldogs could not continue in the winning column and lost to Hammond Morton 4-2. After the Morton game, the Bulldog batsmen banged out a 12-8 win against Hobart. In a return game against Hobart, the hardballers again bombed the the Brickies, by a 4-3 score.

Returning to the Crown Point diamond the Bulldogs rolled over Dyer 7-4 and then won over Hammond Noll by a forfeit. In their next game the CPHS batsmen traveled to the Lowell field where they outplayed the Red Devils for a 10-7 victory. The last game of the season ended on an unhappy note for the Crown Point team, who were handed their sixth loss of the season in a 7-3 game.

At the end of the '61 season, the members of the CP baseball squad elected seniors Mike Kinghorn and Kent Noyes co-captains for their outstanding ability and sportsmanship. Hopes for the 1962 season brightened as the six returning Lettermen improved with practice.

around the corner

and down the hall . . .

As the clock strikes three, the halls of CPHS are instantly filled with mobs of chattering students who have eagerly awaited the end of the school day and the arrival of the after-school activity. The 27 organizations open to CPHS students include everything from a boys' bowling league to an honorary journalism club. All clubs are entitled to one Friday night dance, in addition to other fund-raising activities put on by members under the guidance of an advisor. Tickets and posters are evidence of the extra-curricular activities to all who go around the corner and down the hall . . .

CPHSers take part in the operation of their school through the Student Council. Each year every class elects four fellow students to represent them in the Council. Before their election last year, the future representatives campaigned vigorously for supporters. Each was allowed a speech before the student body at a special assembly. On election day only the registered voters could cast their ballots in the regulation voting booths. From this, participants acquired the practiced experience of the voting process they will undergo as citizens. CPHSers were also given a voice in their government through the installation of a suggestion box.

The first responsibility facing the newly elected officers was the organization of a freshmen orientation program. These four also served on a committee to select a bulldog mascot, George, who was purchased through a donation from the class of 1961.

For Christmas, Council members decked the halls with red and green ornaments and streamers. In addition to the traditional Christmas tree in the main hall, members decorated a smaller tree for the intramural area.

To encourage students toward safer and more courteous driving, the Safe Driving Committee, a Student Council subcommittee, instituted the 'traffic court' for all student violators and awarded the 'Safe Driver of the Month' to nine students.

Throughout the year, Student Council members operated a concessions stand. The money from these sales went towards two $200 scholarships given to two graduating seniors who planned to enter a vocational school. For the first time, the Student Council also helped sponsor a trip to a foreign country for a member of the Crown Point student body.

The Future Teachers of America organization provides an opportunity for all students interested in the teaching profession to get practical training. To get background in teaching, members graded papers for various teachers and listened to guest speakers at the meetings. The club raised money by sponsoring a Friday night dance and selling ice cream bars at the home basketball games. To encourage scholastic and leadership abilities the F.T.A. gave a $125 scholarship to one of its members.

National Honor Society is an organization for seniors and juniors chosen by the faculty on the basis of their character, scholarship, leadership, and service. Fifteen per cent of the senior class is eligible for the spring induction, and the upper five per cent of the juniors, who comprise the active chapter for the following year. Last year, as in previous years, the chapter sponsored a Christmas party for CPHS graduates going to college as well as several special programs for students on the honor roll. To provide funds, NHS members sold engraved stationery and sponsored a dance.

Science majors study old principles and laws

"Let's see, I think this wire goes there. Well, here goes!" Those words were often heard in the science labs as future scientists discovered the reasoning behind age-old principles. For the second year, the Science Club divided into smaller divisions. The most unusual of these was the rocket section, whose members built and fired at special sites miniature rockets. Math students solved difficult problems, amateur chemists and biologists worked on individual experiments, and future physicists constructed intricate projects. These students and other scientists displayed their end products at the Science Fair.

Last year the Latin Club increased its membership considerably due to the fact that for the first time at CPHS there was a third year Latin course. Another first for last year's club was that advanced Latin students were entitled to membership in the Junior Classical League, a high school division of the American Classical League, which is devoted to the study of the culture, customs, and history of Romans and Greeks. Delegates from CPHS were eligible to participate in district, state, and national meetings.

Latin Club activities included the highlight of the year, the annual spring banquet where first year Latin Students were initiated into the true Roman spirit by serving dinner as Roman slaves.

Second year Latin students and senior guests enjoy feast served by Roman slaves at annual banquet.

The Modern Language Club widened its scope of modern foreign tongues through a foreign exchange student, Notberg Tschorne, who was brought to America from her native home in Vienna, Austria by the American Field Service. Notberg, with a knowledge of four languages including English, German, French, and Spanish, showed her slides of Europe at the meetings and gave members a better understanding of Europe and the problems she faces.

Last year the linguists divided into two smaller groups, a French section and a Spanish one. Each section subscribed to several magazines in their native tongue. Besides having a Christmas Party, members of both groups journeyed to Chicago to see the Spanish epic, El Cid, at the GAA Carnival in March. Modern Language Clubbers sponsored a fortune-telling booth to raise money.

"Resolved: that the federal government equalize educational opportunity for public schools throughout America" was last year's debate topic. Affirmative and negative debaters journeyed to neighboring schools to get practice in formal debating before competing in the district meets. Those interested in public speaking were also encouraged to participate in local speech contests.

Under the leadership of Carlyle Gerde, pres., Dave Hamacher, v. p., Beverly Meyer, sec., Pat Martin, treas., and sponsor Doris Dunn, the club organized the annual Student Legislative Assembly, a mock session of Congress, in which members were committee chairmen and Social Studies students representatives.

Vocational activities

In charge of checking out and receiving the books in the school library were the members of the Librarians Club. These members, under the guidance of Ester Roney, were taught correct library procedures and techniques. The Librarians gave up their study halls to help other students and teachers find research material on the book shelves or in the magazine room. As in past years a representative was chosen to attend a library training session at Indiana University.

Last year was the third anniversary of the FHA, which was organized after the addition of a new home economics department. Under advice of Tennessee Sendak and Alma Hubble, the homemakers learned the proper home and family care, which prepared them for the future. Among the club's activities was the presentation of a fashion show following a mother's tea. Members also had a Christmas party.

Like other vocational organizations, the FNA, Future Nurses of America, members got first-hand knowledge of medicine by taking trips to several Gary hospitals and a local nursing home. They also helped Nurse Phillips, the school nurse, by working in her office.

Boys investigate machines, soil, and cameras

"Smile" . . . and with a flash of light the Camera Club goes into action. Last year's main project was the installation of a new dark room. In addition to sponsoring an annual Friday dance, the club members, under the direction of Joseph Heuer, exhibited many of the pictures they took in the display windows.

"Whoops, I oiled the wrong part!" could well be the sigh of a frustrated machinist trying to fix a complicated machine brought to him by a desperate teacher. The club, under the sponsorship of James Shotts, procured funds for new tools by sponsoring the Inter-class Tourney and a Friday night dance.

The Audio Visual Technicians, sponsored by Ester Roney and Leon Dean, also worked with machines. These boys spent their study halls running visual aids and showing movies for teachers who requested the material.

The FFA provides practical training for students interested in agricultural as a vocation. In district competition two FFAers, under adviser Leon Dean, won first place rating and the right to enter state competition. FFA members highlighted the year by electing the FFA Sweetheart at their annual dance.

The Hi-Y strives to create and maintain standards of Christian character in the home, community, and school. Parking cars at home football and basketball games was one of the services provided by Hi-Y members. They also co-operated with the Sunshine Society to sponsor an annual clothing drive for needy families in November.

The club members, sponsored by Clyde Zeck, also had their share of fun and gaiety in the forms of a hayride, a skating party, and a picnic at the Dunes State Park. The club's last activity was electing the 1961 Hi-Y Sweetheart Nancy Seegers at the Sunshine Hi-Y formal.

Christmas formal and clothing drive

Like its male counterpart, the Sunshine Society's aim is to help spread sunshine and happiness to those around them. In addition to co-sponsoring the clothing drive, the society prepared baskets of food for Thanksgiving and distributed them to the less fortunate families. For the first time, the Sunshine Society adopted a poor ten-year old girl through a Christian children's program. At Christmas the members made miniature Christmas trees and decorated them with small balls for the teachers. Sunshiners sold candy in the fall and were given five points per box. Their aim was to have enough points to attend the Sunshine-Hi-Y Christmas formal.

The Sunshine Society sponsored the Rose Dance in the spring where the queen and her court presided. The royalty were chosen by the Sunshiners. The annual May breakfast, on the first Monday of that month brought the Sunshine Society year to an end. Sunshiners were aided in their program by co-sponsors Mrs. Ruth Crowell and Miss Ora Rickenbaugh.

Sunshiners also served as waitresses at different civic organizations' dinners throughout the year. At some of these events the Hi-Y boys likewise helped diners by parking their cars. The society once again donated two hundred dollars to the Riley Hospital.

One of the greatest honors a CPHS athlete can have is the right to wear a big white "C" on a red sweater background. The familiar 'letter sweaters' designate athletes who have earned a major letter in one of the sports offered by the CPHS athletic department. In addition to having a major or a minor letter, prospective members were required to pass a test on the club's constitution.

By selling programs at football games and cokes and snacks at basketball games, the Lettermen earned money which was used to improve the facilities of the athletic department. Last year Lettermen brightened the halls by selling red kilties for CPHS students' shoes.

In January, the Lettermen, with the help of the GAA, sponsored a semi-formal, the first of its kind. In addition Lettermen officers, advised by Dave Schaeffer and Jerry Jones, organized another dance, which further supplemented their treasury.

GO TO THE GAMES AND BACK YOUR TEAM! These bold black words, printed on a Booster Club poster fulfilled the club's main goal of encouraging student interest and attendance at all athletic events. The club, guided by sponsors Russell Keller and Dixie Mayer, and Sue Liss, pres.; Janet Schulte, v. p.; Bonnie Cooper, sec.; and Dixie Paarlberg, treas., reserved a special booster block at all football and basketball games.

To prompt school spirit at athletic contests, season basketball tickets were available only to the 250 members of the club and only season ticket holders were allowed to sit in the block. Buses sponsored by the Booster Club for students without other transportation encouraged attendance at away games. Colorful posters, displayed in the halls by the Booster Club, urged more school spirit and better attendance at sports events.

GAA and Lettermen institute Semi-Formal

A black bowling ball rolled down the alley towards ten white pins and a GAA member squealed with surprise as the ten white pins toppled over for a strike. Bowling was only one of the sports available to girls athletically inclined. Members of GAA also bounced on the trampoline, did hand stands on the horse and parallel bars and balanced on the flying rings. They also played basketball after school on the nights of varsity basketball games and volleyball during the lunch period. Other members participated in such intramural sports as ping pong, badminton, and baseball. In the spring members, under the leadership of Dixie Mayar and Bonnie Highland, played golf and archery.

In the fall GAAers from neighboring schools gathered together for a playday. In January, members organized, with the help of the Lettermen, a semi-formal, the first of its kind.

Officers of the GAA, Pam Conger, Dixie Paarlberg, Janet MacDonald, Nancy Werblo, and Shirley Porter, discuss plans for a winter semi-formal and a spring carnival.

Demonstrating their agileness in the Physical Fitness Show, GAA girls struggle for control of the ball in an action packed crab soccer game.

Basketball was another favorite pastime for GAA girls interested in intramurals.

form unbeatable team

As the Crown Point basketball team rushed out on the floor in their first game, the crowd roared, and a mascot ferociously barked his encouragement. This was George, Crown Point's first live mascot, who willingly gave the varsity cheerleaders his assistance. George, in his red coat, and the cheerleaders, in their bright red and white uniforms formed an unbeatable team as they led the Booster Club, donned in the red and white school colors, in many diversified cheers. In addition to the old standbys, last year's yell leaders — varsity, reserve, and freshmen — introduced many new and lively cheers which they learned at the Smith Walbridge Cheerleaders camp in the summer. Pep sessions with the Booster Block provided practice for both cheerleaders and students. As foretold by an old proverb, practice did make perfect as Crown Point captured the trophy for the best cheering section at the Christmas Tourney.

Reserve cheerleaders, Mary Fran Glassford, Gretchen Crouz, and Lea Ann Newlin, practice a new cheer.

Concerts, contests, "Brigadoon" occupy choir

Under the new direction of Al Richter, the noted A Cappella choir of CPHS continued to flourish last year in complete harmony. A Cappella strives to foster individual talent and musicianship, and by doing so, to develop music appreciation in its members. Among various engagements, the group entertained at Indiana Teachers' Association in Hammond and presented the Christmas Concert in December and a Choral Concert in the spring. In 1961 the A Cappella presented "Brigadoon" as their annual operetta. These activities along with the three annual convocations, Thanksgiving, Christmas, and Easter, comprise a major portion of the year's schedule.

In the district piano and vocal solo and ensemble contests in January and February, many CPHSers participated, after practicing for many tedious hours. The A Cappella won excellent, superior, and good ratings. On March 30 the choral group had a vocal concert which was the first of its kind to be presented.

However, the year did not prove to be all work and no play. For diversion the singers tramped to Chicago to see "My Fair Lady" and later on to witness "American Ballet" at McCormick Place.

In order to challenge the more enthused, more talented, and hard-working students, various separate choral groups have been formed. There are two male quartets, three girls' trios, and a swing choir. The Madrigal Group, composed of the more experienced in sight reading, opened new opportunities for the more knowledgeable student. Invitations to entertain at certain church programs and civic organizations kept these groups busy the year 'round.

Bulldog band plays at parades and contests

Go, Go, Go, Go, Go, was the familiar cry as the Crown Point Marching Bulldogs hit the field with their high-stepping, precision marching, which always preceded a colorful display of musical talent. The band, including twenty-four cadets, four twirlers, a color guard of four, and drum major Jim Knight, placed second in a field of 105 at the Indiana State Fair and first in Lowell's Labor Day Parade. Besides presenting a half-time show for all home football games, the Marching Bulldogs were featured at a Ball State football game and demonstrated their marching ability at Indiana University. The Bulldog musicians were also invited to play at the Chicago Music Festival for the first time and at Riverview in the summer.

During the winter the ninety-five piece concert band took over the spotlight. This band, with the same personnel as its marching counterpart, performed at many musical concerts. At the Solo and Ensemble Contest in Portage, band members captured 42 superior, 30 excellent, and 8 good ratings.

Future varsity members are trained in the Reserve Band, where they learn the fundamentals of marching and playing.

The Dance Band, composed of sixteen band members, played popular dance music for social functions throughout the year. The five-piece Dixie-land band was also called on to play at many dances last year.

Don O'Niones and Wayne Hinkle assisted director Carl Snolik in marching instruction. Varsity and Reserve Band officers also helped Crown Point High School have the second best band in the state of Indiana.

In early December the Art Club toured the Chicago Art Institute and attended the musical, the "Sound of Music," to observe the artistic part as well as enjoy the music and acting. Figures of the Nativity Scene were fortified to better stand the Christmas winter weather. Members also worked after school making and selling Christmas cor-sages. Putting a picture in Mr. Weldy's office and keeping one of the main hall windows filled with attractive displays was the responsibility of the display committee. The constitution was re-written to help give the club a firm foundation in the future.

At special meetings, qualified art people spoke to the group about different art fields, such as commercial and fashion illustrating. The Art Club, under Mr. Paul J. Georgas' sponsorship, had several firsts this year—an art exhibit around the square, scholarship to an active art club member to a summer work-shop at Indiana University, and financial aid to a senior going on with art. To supplement the program, a party for members and guests was held at the school in April.

Fine art students display talent in art, drama

"To be or not be" . . . that was the question for last year's dramatists as they vied for the leading roles in the one act play, "Along Came Harriet," which they presented February 21, after school. Mary Ann Klinedorf captured the spotlight as "Harriet." The amateur actors and actresses gave their supply room, which contained costumes, props, and makeup a new look by cleaning every nook and cranny. The members journeyed to Valparaiso to see the Broadway play, "Five-Finger Exercise." They also traveled to Chicago's Shubert Theater to see "Sound of Music." For the first time, the drama members participated in a drama contest in which they presented "High Window," by Vern Powers.

The Junior Play, "The Passing of the Third Floor Back," opened with the cheating landlady Mrs. Sharpe (Harriet Madden) bawling out the philosophing maid Stasia (Jean Griesse and Sue Patz). The boarders had warped personalities and delighted in making life miserable until the Stranger (Bruce Briney) rents the one empty room and made them see themselves as others saw them. Joey Wright (Donald Mohr), who was a retired booky, courted Vivian (Nancy Tuhy) the daughter of Major and Mrs. Thompkins (Ed Langeland and Joan E. Knapp). But she and the painter Christopher Penny (Kip Bothwell) really love each other. Others were Jape Samuels (Ted See) and Harry Larkcom (John Fought). Marion Kellum directed with Sandy Zmuda's help.

Three convicts — Joseph (Ed Langeland), Jules (Donald Mohr), and Alfred (Richard Martin) — became 'angels' to make the Ducotels' Christmas merry when their villainous uncle Henri Trochard (Al Garnier) with his heir Paul (John Pause) tried to take away their general store in Cayenne, French Guiana. Felix (John Fought), his wife Emilie (Joan E. Knapp and Sue Patz), and their daughter Marie Louise (Nancy Tuhy and Betsy Briggs) portrayed the Ducotels. Mme. Parole (Becky Denny and Sandy Zmuda) and the Lieutenant (Mike Latz) are also involved in the family affairs. Marion Kellum directed "My Three Angels" assisted by Kathy Esser.

Night lamps burn as

"Here a deadline, there a deadline, everywhere," could well have been the theme of the Excalibur editors of 1962. For, indeed, there were deadlines, and plenty of them. It all started May 17, 1961, at the annual Publications Banquet at Youche Country Club when the announcement of the next year's staff was made. These students, led by Janne Turner, editor-in-chief, Barbara Everett, business manager, and Philip Barlowe, advisor were given the tremendous responsibility of producing a yearbook. The '62 book had to meet high standards set by its predecessors, who captured an All-American rating from the National Scholastic Press Association for eight consecutive years. Late night sessions, toil, sweat, and strained nerves were all part of the lives of the harried Excalibur editors, striving to make the '62 Excalibur the "best ever."

editors face deadlines

"Inklings" editors had their share of difficulties too — pictures that didn't fit and not enough copy. Wednesday nights were the nights of decision, the nights when editors and reporters worked late putting the "Inklings" together, adding all of the finishing touches for CPHS' award-winning weekly paper. In December, editor-in-chief Rick Harrison, assisted by Becky Denney, news editor, and Linda Jefferson, feature editor, put out a special eight column edition of the paper, complete with candy canes for Christmas. In February the "Inklings" sponsored its annual Man of the Year dance, at which a man of the year was chosen, plus the boy with the most original hat, designed by his date. The "Inklings" also sponsored a Talent Show, the first of its kind, for Crown Point and schools in neighboring areas.

Inklings' editors work late to meet the Wednesday deadline which comes every week.

September 5, 1961, opened a new world for the 408 freshmen. They entered into the feeling of school spirit with the 872 students already enrolled in CPHS.

English, math, and science classes equipped students with knowledge to use after graduation, while the music department, clubs, and societies added recreation and culture to a student's life.

The gym and intramural equipment offered opportunities for building muscles and enjoying extra-curricular sports.

Principal Gilbert Weldy guides CPHS students and faculty through the hustle and bustle of school life.

Counseling and school policies make office

New this year on the administration scene was the position of attendance director filled by Charles Lehner, who took over the job of recording each student's attendance in school. Mrs. Connie Wood, dean of girls and formerly in charge of attendance, took on new duties as a guidance counselor for sophomores. Ray Rodgers, assistant principal and dean of boys, also helped counsel students and sponsored the Student Council.

Principal Gilbert Weldy, in his sixth year as the head of the CPHS administration, accepted the responsibility of running Crown Point High with its fifty-three faculty members smoothly and efficiently.

One of the duties of Robert Brannock, superintendent of schools, is preparing the CPHS calendar.

Helen Palmer, guidance director, was in charge of student schedules; in addition she handled test scores, college bulletins, and career information for juniors and seniors.

Another change in last year's administration was Mrs. Vivian Spencer, replacing Miss Ella Blackstone as bookkeeper. Mrs. Spencer handled the money and accounting problems of the extra-curricular activities. Also helping around the office was Mrs. Olsen, secretary to Mr. Weldy and in charge of the other various office duties.

Superintendent of schools, Robert Brannock, determined school policies and planned the city schools' calendars. Assisting Mr. Brannock, the school board, composed of Carroll Holley, Kenneth Knight, and Paul Rapp, represented the public in school problems.

Completing his second year as CPHS assistant principal, Ray Rodgers sponsors the Student Council.

Seniors . . .

Senior class officers, C. Fredericks, G. Kmetz, M. Bissing, and J. Harris, consult the senior bulletin board for current information on colleges and scholarships.

As the class of "62" leaves CPHS, the scene of four years of sad and happy memories, two lone figures remain and remember. Perched above the library door across from the main entrance of the school, the father of our country and the Great Emancipator viewed the panorama of student life. Under the steady gaze of George and Abe, an excited group of freshmen eagerly rushed into their first day of school, September 6, 1959.

These two canvas faces watched the eager freshmen of yesterday become the eager seniors of today and the citizens of tomorrow. In the intervening years George and Abe witnessed the joys, sorrows, hopes, dreams, and plans of the 62'ers as they hurried from class to class or stopped to read the cafeteria menu or the honor roll on the bulletin board below. Friendships were made, worries discussed, and problems aired. Now the class of "62" has departed, but the memories of the four years they spent at CPHS will still linger in their hearts and in the eyes of George and Abe.

In charge of the Student Council suggestion box are reps P. Bremer, C. Newlin, S. Polivka, J. Barber.

Class officers guide respective underclassmen

The freshman class, 408 strong, entered school wide-eyed and scared. They were familiar with the building from orientation day, but school maps saved many lost "greenies" from wandering aimlessly through CPHS halls. As the weeks passed, though, their confidence grew and soon they were at home with the sophomores, juniors, and seniors. Officers Peggy Vinedge, president; Linda Seramur, vice-president; Terry Cox, treasurer, and Terry Van Slyke, secretary, acquired leadership preparing for the Froshmore Hop.

Important decision making confronted Donna Wood, secretary, as she points to the ring styles from which officers Roger Irvin, treasurer, Mike Meyers, vice-president, Tom Witten, president, and other sophomores selected a class ring in a student election. Besides gaining this status symbol, 64'ers made plans for their last big underclass social event, the Froshmore Hop, before rising to the level of juniors. The sophomores were filled with the anticipation of becoming upperclassmen as the school year ended.

Measuring John Coe, vice-president, for his '63 class sweater are the other junior class officers, Rick Fulk, president, Susan Jacoby, treasurer, and Judi Pelton, secretary. Buying sweaters wasn't the 63'ers' only project, for as the junior class became upperclassmen, they took on the increased responsibility of providing a prom for the seniors. To meet the added expenses of the prom, juniors banded together selling concessions at the fall home football games and producing the junior class play.

and down the street . . .

Two blocks east of Crown Point High School lies the thriving community of Crown Point, the county seat of Lake County. The center of all town activity is the 84 year old courthouse, which contains all the county records and documents. Surrounding this three story structure, 300 businesses fill the needs of Crown Point citizens, as well as those of Cedar Lake, Liberty Park, and other outlying areas. The older businesses give the 'square' an air of sophistication, while the newer ones add a touch of sparkle and gaiety. The courthouse, the businesses on the square, and the homes which surround them—all form the city of Crown Point, the 'hub' of Lake County.

their future

The young people you see in these pictures are all on their way to successful careers in one of America's basic industries . . . steel. They decided (as we hope you will decide) to let Inland Steel Company help them plan their future.

Some are gaining knowledge and experience in special trades to become journeyman machinists, carpenters or electricians . . . some are concentrating on certain phases of steelmaking by working in the open hearth shops, the cold rolling mills or the galvanizing lines. Still others are working in laboratories building a sound foundation for a future in steel research.

Inland offers the high school graduate an excellent opportunity to further his education. Employees may participate in a variety of on-the-job training programs, or they can continue their formal education by registering for evening courses offered by local Purdue and Indiana University Extension Centers.

Plan now to investigate the unlimited opportunities for you in steel . . . with the midwest's own steel company . . . INLAND STEEL.
